4. Area of scientific activity

Quantitative methods applied to Economics and Management Sciences (PdD and Agregation field).

Main areas of application: Management (Marketing), Tourism, Psychology

Quantitative methods more frequently explored: econometric models for sectional data (multiple regression, discrete choice models, path analysis), panel data analysis and multivariate statistics (principal components analysis, cluster analysis, discriminant analysis, structural equation models with latent variables and quantitative methods for qualitative data: correspondence analysis and categorical principal components analysis).

Member of the Research Center for Spatial and Organizational Dynamics (CIEO) (Center evaluated by the FCT with Very Good)

5. Present research interest

Domain of specialization

Quantitative methods applied to Economics and Management Sciences - Statistics.

Member of the Research Center for Spatial and Organizational Dynamics (CIEO) (Center evaluated by the FCT with Very Good)

Current research interests

Applications of multivariate statistics in Tourism, Marketing and Psychology.

Special interest in:

Consumer behaviour models
Econometric models for discrete dependent variable (logit regression, probit regression, multinomial regression).
Models for Panel data.
Structural equation models with latent variables.
Quantitative methods for qualitative data (correspondence analysis and categorical principal components analysis).
